SURESH BODIWALA

Bhoomi Trivedi with male singers at Garba Dandia

Garba with Bhoomi Trivedi participated by hundreds

CHICAGO IL: New Era Entertainment presented Garba Dandia Masti by legendary vocalist Bhoomi Trivedi, also known as Ramleela Girl, at Bartlett Park district spacious gymnasium on Saturday, Sept 2 at 7 pm till about 2 am next presented during pre-Navratri time. Navratri, an annual holy event, is celebrated in honor of Goddess Durga, also worshipped as goddesses Durga, Lakshmi and Saraswati, the goddesses of health, prosperity and knowledge, ing the memorable evening. Many in the audience, especially ladies and children wore vibrant colorful and dazzling traditional Indian dresses for this special event with appropriately matching ornaments and extravagant hairstyles

Garba dance started by the participants moving in clockwise fashion around goddess Durga's representation. The whirling dancers, clapped hands, and later added distinct sound of wooden sticks struck together in perfect harmony by toe-tapping music and people.

The program commenced with rhythmic live music including enchanting drum and dhol beats of orchestra and vocal choral by Bhoomi Trivedi.

Acclaimed Indian singer, 28 years old Bhoomi hails from Vadodara.
